West Coast Winter

February 2014

Dear Charles,

The beautifully mild weather makes it hard to believe it is Winter, and also makes it difficult to resist the temptation to spend time outdoors instead of in the studio. But this new year's inspirations for new art abound, and I am eager to see what emerges in coming months from this community's creativity.

Upcoming Events: Leadership Meeting

Pacific Rim Sculptors is thriving and our membership is growing, thanks to the enthusiasm and committed members. You can help by volunteering in focus areas, such as our Exhibitions Committee. Members interested in helping our organization grow can participate in the Leadership group, which meets a few times a year (sometimes in person, sometimes via teleconference). If you would like to participate in the upcoming February Leadership Meeting, please send an email to Anya Behn.

Exhibitions Committee: Scheduled Shows

Scheduled Shows:

- Richmond Art Center, Richmond; June 14 - August 15, 2014:
There will be two spaces: a large outdoor patio, perfect for large outdoor sculpture, and a long indoor gallery with a wall of windows looking onto the patio space, which is perfect for smaller or delicate sculptures. There is a possibility that sculptures in the patio might remain there for 6 months. Crane installation expenses might be shared among participating artists.
Submission deadline to be announced.
- Art Ark Gallery, San Jose; October 2014. Details will be provided in the near future.
